If Germany Doesn't Sign—Starvation: Allies Are Ready to Enforce a ... Signal Corps Photo.
New York Times (1857-1922); Jun 8, 1919; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The New York Times pg. 79

If Germany Doesn't Sign—Starvation

Allies Are Ready to Enforce a Blockade More Rigorous Than Ever Before, Should Enemy Balk at Peace Terms—Suggestion of Marching to Berlin Overruled

SOME observers have concluded that the advent of war in Europe has brought about the possibility of bringing the war to a decisive finish by a blockade. The British, for example, have decided to make the blockade as effective as possible according to the terms of the treaty. The aim of the blockade is to prevent Germany from exporting food and raw materials to other countries. The British have been successful in enforcing the blockade, but the German government has not been able to enforce it effectively. The British have managed to enforce the blockade, but the German government has not been able to enforce it effectively.

In the meantime, the Allies have been thinking of ways to enforce the blockade more rigorously. One suggestion is to blockade Germany's major cities. This would be a difficult task, but it is possible. The Allies have also been considering the possibility of forcing Germany to surrender. This would be a more drastic measure, but it is a possibility. The Allies have been careful not to take any actions that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use force, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have also been thinking of ways to use economic pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose economic sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use economic pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use military force to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a military offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use force, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use political pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose political sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use political pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use propaganda to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a propaganda offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use propaganda, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use economic pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose economic sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use economic pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use military force to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a military offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use force, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use political pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose political sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use political pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use propaganda to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a propaganda offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use propaganda, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use economic pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose economic sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use economic pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use military force to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a military offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use force, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use political pressure to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to impose political sanctions on Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to impose sanctions that would harm their own economies. The Allies have been willing to use political pressure, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.

The Allies have been thinking of ways to use propaganda to force Germany to surrender. One suggestion is to launch a propaganda offensive against Germany. This would be a difficult task, as Germany has many allies. The Allies have been careful not to launch an offensive that would lead to a negotiated settlement, as they believe that this would be a weakness. The Allies have been willing to use propaganda, but they have been careful not to use it excessively.