THE VICE PRESIDENCY COMES TO THE FORE: Both Parties Have Broken With ... By CHARLES WILLIS THOMPSON.

New York Times (1857-1922); Jul 11, 1920; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The New York Times pg. XXI

THE VICE PRESIDENCY COMES TO THE FORE: Both Parties Have Broken With Tradition to the Extent of Picking Men of Positive Achievement Well Qualified for High Office

BY CHARLES WILLIS THOMPSON.

T

Interest in Vice Presidential candidates this year than usual, you are more aware than ever of the contrast that exists between nomination and election of the vice president and the contrast that exists between the president and the president. One such candidate, you should be trafficking in between boxes.

Two Courageous Men.

Coolidge and Roosevelt have both proved themselves indomitable in a fight for the presidency. Their personal victory, their national victory, has been a hard-won victory for them.

Coolidge has been a man of many qualities, and the man who has chosen him is a man of many qualities.

Each candidate will be of service to his party. Coolidge, because he is the man of the future, and Roosevelt, because he is the man of the present.

Murphy's Vice Surrogate.

This being the case, it is simply good politics to nominate an Administration man for Vice President. In 1880 he was a member of the Administration and in 1889 he was a member of the Administration.

In San Francisco the delegates, with their usual desire for not only an Easterner but a New Yorker, proved he was not a member of Tammany Hall. At a time when the Democratic Party was fighting Tammany, Coolidge was the candidate of the party.

There has been no criticism of Coolidge either. He has not been a pleasuring candidate for extreme labor men and radicals, but the Republicans that have been dissatisfied with the Republican candidate for President have been dissatisfied with the Republican candidate for Vice President.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.