WHO WILL BE DRAFTED NEXT?: Discussions in Congress as to calling ... Ewing, Harris A New York Times (1857-1922); Jun 30, 1918; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The New York Times pg. 55

WHO WILL BE DRAFTED NEXT?:

Discussions in Congress as to calling Youths between 18 and 21 Years, and Men as Old as 45—Crowder's New Figures on Exhaustion of Present Eligible List

THERE are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.

There are two good reasons for calling the draft ages. One is that between the ages of 18 and 21, the best material, in the opinion of the military men, is obtained; the other is that the young men may be withdrawn from civil life with the least disturbance to industrial and commercial enterprises.